

Bring your corporate image library to life

Outsource's AI image bureau leverages the deep artistic capabilities and design know-how of our internal design team, along with emerging generative AI tools, to create first-to-world images that will make your brand stand out.

We offer:

-
-
-
-
-

We use your brand guidelines to align colour palettes and tone, keeping in mind the current restrictions of this technology.

How it works

Start a no-risk trial with a free mood board and two print-ready images

To help you get started, we'll turn your vision into a mood board that showcases a range of AI-generated images.

This will let you see the style and types of images that could form part of your new updated image library. If you like where the mood board is going, we'll deliver two final-art images of your choice as part of the free trial.

Then, choose your curated AI-generated image library subscription level:

Monthly subscription

Subscription includes design mood board for concept approval and the production of final-art images.

4 images: $1200 | 8 images: $2200 | 12 images: $3200

Or

Per-image rate

$500 per image

Regeneration of existing content libraries

Enquire for quote

LinkedIn images

Blog headers

Illustrations for whitepapers and other assets

Website images

Email headers

Advertisements

Banners

Reports

Research papers

Videos

PowerPoint front pages

AI IS GREAT AT:

	Delivering fresh and innovative solutions that help your brand stand out.
	Creating abstract concepts with specific controls like lighting, background, and ethnicity.
	Providing a wide range of ideas based on a vague concept.
	Conveying a multitude of concepts and messages in ways stock photography simply can't.
	Offering freedom to explore and develop themes without incurring significant costs.
	Giving you unlimited variety and a novel way to extend your image library.

AI has a powerful role to play in creating images that express ideas and concepts. AI lets you connect your imagination to an output in a way that's not possible with photography or other traditional art.

AI IS STILL NOT GREAT AT:

	Matching brand guidelines perfectly: being too prescriptive with brand guidelines can limit the AI's creative potential; however, we will always attempt to deliver images that reflect your brand guidelines.
	Time constraints: while AI promises to be faster than traditional methods one day, the process is unpredictable, so we cannot promise same-day or next-day delivery for AI-generated images.
	Specificity: the more specific your requirements, the more time-consuming it is to deliver. AI can also struggle with overly specific instructions and prefers simple designs and colours.
	Complexity: the limitations of AI mean we need flexibility to interpret concepts.
	Editing: we can edit AI-generated images in Photoshop but the AI itself cannot make edits.
	Duplication: we cannot guarantee exact duplication of an image, which makes it challenging to provide multiple copies of a specific image.
	Artists and styles: while AI can use image references to generate prompts, it may not precisely mimic an artist's specific style. For example, if an artist's style is too unique, AI won't be able to replicate it.

How to get a powerful AI image

- 1 The more flexible the guidelines, the better the AI performs.
- 2 Understanding how to drive the platform is essential; prompt engineering is an emerging skill and one we've spent many months honing.
- 3 Working with a designer who understands brand aesthetics and design principles yields more impactful images.
- 4 Providing clear prompts with technical details provides more control over the finished product.

Evolve your imagery using AI

From this (stock image)

To this (AI imagery)

Contact

Adam Soper
Senior account manager

adam_soper@therecognitiongroup.com.au

+61 2 9252 2266

www.outsource.com.au

ABOUT OUTSOURCE

Outsource is one of Australia's leading B2B specialist marketing companies. Every day our team works to deliver lead generation, marketing and communications programs, and campaigns for leading B2B companies across the US, UK, EMEA, and APAC.